

The Herald and News

Entered at the Postoffice at Newberry, S. C., as 2nd class matter.
E. H. AULL, EDITOR.

Friday, June 2, 1916.

For the benefit of Abbeville Press and Banner we desire to say in justice to the Newberry farmer, who gave out the interview in Columbia for the Record, that we have no idea he intended it for publication, but was just talking to the governor and his secretary, as you say, to help them "keep their courage up." We do not know who the man from Newberry is, but you know these Newberry people do not like to make any one feel bad. It sounded too good to the ears of the governor and the secretary however and so they gave it to the reporter. We do not speak with authority, but somehow we just feel that is the way it all happened. In our opinion it was just intended for the ears of the governor to make him feel good, and with no intention of doing any one harm. No doubt next time this prominent Newberry farmer will be a little more careful. Let 'em feel good awhile.

FOR CANDIDATES

The Herald and News stated some time ago that we would be forced occasionally to cut the list of candidates out of the paper when we were crowded with ads. We have had only one small kick. We like all the candidates and wish them mighty well. We want to tell them something more, and that is that they are getting their advertising much cheaper in his county than the candidates in almost any other county in the State, and in most of the counties the candidates pay just twice what we charge in Newberry. We have printed the list for some time twice a week and we do not see just how it will injure the chances of any one for election by leaving his name out of the paper occasionally.

We had intended some time ago to make this announcement, that we will print the cut of each candidate from the office of congress on, down the line to magistrate and a short sketch of each, if the candidate will pay the price of the cut and furnish the sketch, and it must not take over four or five inches. Now we have about decided to get out a candidate edition of The Herald and News early in July, just after all the announcements are in, if the candidates will furnish the price of a cut and the sketch, and print them all at once in groups according to office so that the people may see what you look like and who you are and what you want. It will make a nice section to file away. Come along, boys, and let us have your picture and the price of the cut at once so that we may know how many of you appreciate this offer and we may have time to get it out. We want it complete of all whose names appear in this paper. Don't you think that a fair proposition? Now give us your cooperation. We want always to do the right thing and give value received.

We must have your picture and the information during the month of June if you want to be in the picture. Of course those of you who have cuts already will not need to go to that expense. Don't wait it to the last moment and then complain if you do not get in the picture.

We would like to put your face away in our files and this is an opportunity to you to have it there at a minimum of cost. Every one from magistrate up to congress who will give us the picture and the price of the cut and who has his card in The Herald and News.

We had overlooked the statement in the newspapers of the great ovation the governor received at the Jones school picnic. But we notice from the Laurens paper that it was not such an ovation after all for Mr. Manning. Only the other day we had a letter from a Laurens man in which he says:

"I never read a more exaggerated account of a picnic in my life. It was really a very small affair and Manning must have been pretty hard up for somewhere to speak, or else he wouldn't have been making that sparsely settled section. The crowd was small—much smaller than what was actually expected, and smaller than in previous years. You saw what they had to say about that ovation, well, if they all that an ovation, I don't know what an ovation is. The band played for each of the speakers, but that was all they got. Manning will positively run the poorest 'third' in the Piedmont section this summer that ever you thought about. He positively won't do anything in this county."

And that is the way it goes. Our opinion is that we all know very little about what the result will be.

Mr. N. B. Dial of Laurens challenges Senator McLaurin to a joint debate in each congressional district on the State warehouse system. That is that one meeting in each congressional district be called and that Mr. Dial and Mr. McLaurin discuss the warehouse system and its management. That would be a good way to have the matter discussed before the people on its merits and without any one seeking office on the system as an issue.

AN ALMOST ACCIDENT

But for the kindness of our contemporary The Herald and News would have been unable to print the candidates names again today. Henry Turner (our colored chief of staff and general man of no work in particular and press feeder) managed to start the press after the forms were on without locking them in the bed of the press with the result that one of them containing two pages was precipitated to the cement floor and there was not much of it left except the pi. These two pages contained the candidates cards and they are all pi sure enough.

It happened that the Observer had finished printing the form that contained these announcements, and kindly loaned us the type. It also happened that the article on the death of J. J. Hill was in that form and the Observer had it in type and let us have the use of it. So we managed to go to press with very little delay and nothing was broken.

We print the announcements from the Observer just as they appear in that paper which gives one or two the benefit of an announcement in The Herald and News. Those that are in The Herald and News and not in the Observer are printed in a separate column in this issue. We hope no name has been omitted.

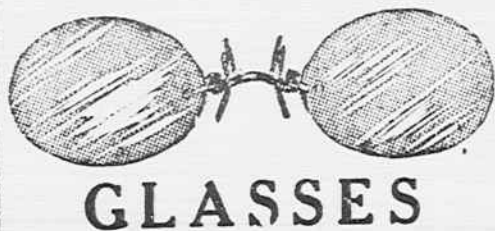

Accidents will happen and we are like Polly Anna we are so glad it is no worse. The accident might have broken the press. We did not get angry or say or even think any bad words.

There were two or three articles that we had up for that page that we are forced to omit from this paper and we lose one or two ads on account of the accident.

JOSEPH NORWOOD WINS SCHOLARSHIP IN FURMAN

Joseph Norwood the son of our towns people Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Norwood who has been in the Furman Fitting school for the past two years has made a record that his parents should be proud of and has won several medals as well as a scholarship in Furman. The Greenville News has the following to say
of the record:

Joseph Norwood, a member of the graduating class, and a son of a resident of Newberry (Mr. and Mrs. J.

E. Norwood) won unusual distinction
at the commencement this term having been awarded the faculty oratorical medal, the Rothschild medal for scholarship and the Endel medal for being the best speaker in the third year class. In addition to these medals
Mr. Norwood, who is about 16 years of age, was awarded the scholarship to Furman University.

Mr. Norwood's average for the year's work was 99 and a fraction,
which was also his average for the past two years and upon the record
of the latter he won the scholarship.

Let a tailor tell you how much this
suit ought to cost.

People marvel how it can be done for $17. If you were to take the suit without the labels to an expert judge you would get a startling answer as to the actual worth of

Styleplus
Clothes $17

Costs are cut down in the making. The price card is never changed. New values are made possible
by a new method.

The makers decided to become famous for a suit of style, of reliable quality, of known price. They adjusted their manufacturing to the policy on a great scale.

The results are shown in the high quality all wool fabrics, distinctive workmanship, faultless
style.

Big range of models, all fabrics. Styleplus is for all men—-young and others.
